My dear Mr. Wood,

I am enclosing the postage for sending the coins, and I wish to thank you for your kindness in attributing and appraising them.
Since they are none of them either rare or valuable, I can afford to keep them for my school work. And, too, I can do so without pickings of conscience since I paid more than the market price for them.

Your suggestion about using a lantern in showing them to ~~large~~ classes is a good one.
I shall use it.

Again thanking you for your kind interest, I am Yours most sincerely,
Dorcas Hedden
